Inspired by a letter written by Susan B. Anthony that is held in the Dominican University Archives and Special Collections, this study explores relationships between social change and dress reform for women.