Runyon, Brent. The Burn Journals. New York: Knopf, 2004. What is so awful about Brent's life that he soaks a robe in gasoline and sets himself on fire? That's what he is trying to remember.

Sebold, Alice. Lucky. New York: Scribner, 1999. A survivor of a brutal rape, Alice picks up the pieces of her life with hope and determination.

Vizzini, Ned. Teen Angst? Naah...A Quasi-Autobiography. Minneapolis: Free Spirit, 2000. Addicted to video games? Ever scrounged up money for prom? Welcome to high school. Share Ned's pain.

Zailckas, Koren. Smashed: Story of a Drunken Girlhood. New York: Viking, 2005. She's blacked out, thrown up and had her stomach pumped; yet Koren keeps taking another drink.

Zenatti, Valerie. When I was a Soldier. New York: Bloomsbury, 2005. Before, Valerie's biggest question in life was "What will I wear?" Now, it's "Why am I fighting?" Will she ever find an answer?
